We might be “united”, but we love celebrating our individuality by designating symbols of our statehood. Naming a state flower began more than a century ago when Minnesota named the Pink & White Lady’s Slipper as it flower in 1893. This limited collection names and depicts each of the Fifty State Flowers, showcasing some of them on a map panel that can be framed or made into a pillow, bag or used as a center medallion in a quilt.
1 panel – 3 colorways

Panel measures approx. 24” x 44”
Map measures approx. 20”x17”

Here in Texas we love the blue bonnet. Do you know your state’s flower?
