Original Recipe

 Easy

Hi there everyone! It's LeAnne from Everyday Celebrations with a fun and quick project that you'll absolutely love making. It's pretty well known here that I love banners. One of my all time favorite Bake Shop projects is the Fairground Quilt that I designed awhile back. I just love banners. I have them throughout my home for just about every holiday. Today, I'm sharing a sweet little sewing room bunting that will be perfect for your own sewing space, as a gift for a sewing friend, or wouldn't these be cute as a little "extra" for a swap buddy?! For this particular set, I used the Dottie collection by Moda Fabrics. However, you can of course use your favorite Moda line to make these. I also can see these without text, just a sweet banner showcasing your favorite prints from your favorite line! Ohhh the possibilities are endless. Lets get started shall we?

Fabric requirements are given for the "create" bunting, after reading the instructions you may need to adjust the requirements as needed.

at least 3 to 6 fat quarters, shown in Dottie (Amount may vary if you want a different print for each bunting or if you want to repeat a print.)

1/4 yd solid for circles, shown in Bella Solid Bleached White 97

1/4 yd linen for letters, shown in Linen Mochi Solid Putty 32911 13

approx 1 yd fusible webbing, I prefer Heat n' Bond Lite string or twine for threading buntings coordinating or contrasting thread

fabric marker of choice

needle with a large eye for threading the buntings

Instructions:

If you would like to make your own custom banner, I used the font broadcast bold and it's excellent for banners. You can download it for free here.

Print of the templates in the attached printable PDF. The file includes all the necessary templates, including the text for "create", "sew", and "quilt". The letters are reversed for tracing onto fusible webbing. When printing, make sure that 'shrink to fit' or the like is NOT selected. Check the 1" square on the template pages to make sure everything is to scale.

Cutting

Cut {6} 6" x 18" strips from your desired fat quarters. (One per bunting.)

From the solid cut {1} 5.5" x WOF strip. (Each strip yields approximately {8} circles.)

Steps

1. Fold each 6"x18" FQ strip in half and press.

2. Trace and cut {6} circles on to the fusible web. Rough cut the circles out and adhere to your solid fabric following the directions for your brand of fusible web. Cut out circles.

3. Trace and cut the necessary letters onto the fusible web. Rough cut the letters out and adhere to your linen fabric following the directions for your brand of fusible web. Cut out letters.

4. Using the bunting template, trace shape on to the right side of the folded fabric strip. Repeat for each bunting.

5. Sew ON your tracing line, backstitching at the beginning and end. Trim fabric approx 1/4" from your stitching line. Press. (If you are using a fabric marker that doesn't come out after using heat, wait until the mark disappears!)

6. Fuse the circle and letter onto the bunting following the directions for your brand of fusible webbing.

7. Use a wide zig zag or use a blanket stitch around the circle to reinforce and for fun!

8. Using a needle with a large eye, thread the buntings together.

Yield:

One bunting banner as directed above.

These are the perfect gift for your sewing friends, the perfect "extra" for a swap friend, or to adorn your own sewing space.
